Sir John Millison,

10 Wesley Place,

Toronto.

My dear Sir John:

Many thanks for the extract from your son's letter. I hope that he still is as confident as he was then. I must say that after reading Lloyd George's speech this morning I realize the seriousness of the crisis in which we are. However I cannot help but believe that we have gone through the worst.

With kind regards, I am,

Yours sincerely,

President.

Sir John Willison,

10 Playley Place,

Toronto.

Dear Sir John:

Thank you very much for the opportunity you have given us of reading the first chapter of your "Reminiscences" which I have done and now return. They are extremely interesting and very well written. They bring up a background through personal incident that is extremely valuable just as a piece of permanent history. What you say about the old days of the country parts of Ontario is well put and I am sure will be of value to those who come after us. I shall look forward with much pleasure to the next instalment.

With kind regards, I am,

Yours sincerely,

President.
